The Eye On Vision Foundation needs to raise $50,000-$100,000 for the next phase of visual snow research. If you go to our GoFundMe page you will see the goal is $150,000. This is because $50,000 of those funds were already used for the German phase of the study completed in 2015.

Visual Snow syndrome is a rare neurological condition, which causes patients constant untreatable visual disturbances. These disturbances include, but are not limited to, static across the entire visual field, floaters, after images, light sensitivity, ghosting, trails, double vision, night blindness, flashes, and blue field entoptic phenomenon.

The syndrome also causes other physical symptoms in patients including dizziness, tinnitus, migraines, numbness, tingling, head and ear pressure, vertigo, fatigue, depersonalization and several others.

Prof. Peter Goadsby and Dr. Christoph Schankin have begun research into visual snow, but the funding has run out, and more money is needed to continue this crucial research.

The Eye on Vision Foundation is also supporting ground-breaking research into eye floaters. Our goal is to raise a minimum of $50,000 per year for eye floaters research.

Currently there is no research being conducted to find a non-surgical treatment for eye floaters. We are trying to change that! Help make a difference in the sight and lives of many people suffering from impaired vision due to vitreous eye floaters!
